Cognizant, Sourcery Academy | Kaunas LT

At the academy, I immersed myself in the world of software engineering, and the biggest emphasis was placed on the development of the project prototype. We not only studied the theory, but also flourished, surrounded by fellow enthusiasts, turning concepts into real solutions. It was all about learning from the process. When creating a prototype, we tested our newly discovered skills.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Marius Noreikis

Software Architect | Cognizant

"I've had a great chance to be a mentor to Mantvydas during the Sourcery Academy. From the very first engagement minutes, Mantvydas took on tough responsibilities and tackled challenging tasks that lead him to depths of the authentication world. He also proved himself familiar with back-end and front-end technologies. Good points during team conversations, not afraid of taking responsibilities and helping the team. Surely, with a bit more practice Mantvydas can become an expert in IT field. He have seen and solved challenges - now it is time to power up the skills with more practice and more quality code. You're making great headway!"
